Designed a visual tool that allowed IT admins to easily secure virtual networks with software within their data centers. Delighted customers to be able to visualize their network traffic in a diagram rather than in a table. Beta version reached ~50 customers.

Designed the user interface for object storage, a storage architecture that allows app developers to store unstructured data. As a result, IT admins and their teams can satisfy use cases for backing up data, archiving data, and passing audits. Beta version released to ~10 customers.
